CALL FOR PRESENTER APPLICATIONS

The ASCA is calling for Abstracts and Workshop Proposals for its 2010 International Conference on Applied Strength and Conditioning – 12th-14th November 2010.

The ASCA International Conference on Applied Strength and Conditioning is one of the largest gathering of strength and conditioning professionals in Australia and is one of the premier annual Strength and Conditioning Conference that attracts presenters and delegates from across the globe.

The aim of the conference is to provide delegates with the progress being made in the latest research, techniques and technologies as well as in the practical application. The 2010 Conference will again focus on practical workshops that provide delegates with a “hands on” experience as well as keynote addresses, interactive and lecture style presentations.

Please note that there is a maximum of 20 presenter positions available during the Conference and that the ASCA strives to find presenters at the cutting edge of applied strength and conditioning and research and who excel in their field of speciality.

Before completing the application form please read the following carefully:

- Applicants should be available for the entire conference (Friday Evening 12th to Sunday 14th)
- Applicants must have email and must submit all requested material via attachment unless permitted otherwise.
- Applicants cannot present at any other industry-related events 30 days prior to and 10 days after the 2010 International Conference on Applied Strength and Conditioning unless prior arrangements have been made with the ASCA.
- All sessions must be performed according to safe and acceptable industry guidelines.
- Applicant agrees to use ASCA equipment in presentations where applicable.

- Applicant understands that presenter compensation requirements strongly influence presenter selection. The opportunity to speak at a highly recognised conference is significant therefore presenters cannot be compensated for flight, hotel or presenting fees.
- Applicant understands that the ASCA reserves the right, unless otherwise advised, to produce a DVD of the presentation for sale to ASCA members and the general public.
- Applicant understands that, if accepted, they MUST provide session handouts by Friday 15th October 2010.
- Applicants once accepted will be required to sign a “Presenter Contract”.
- Please note: The ASCA does not permit presenters to distribute sales materials during their session. You have a variety of options to provide these materials to delegates: (a) purchase an exhibitor booth (b) include your email, address and phone number on your handouts (c) purchase the opportunity to place materials in delegates kits. If promotional material is included in your submitted outlines, handouts and/or presentation slides, they will not be included in the Conference materials.

Presenter Honorarium

Whilst the ASCA is unfortunately unable to assist in paying airfares and/or accommodation for presenters we can offer a complimentary conference registration valued at $700.00. This includes:

- Welcome Cocktail Function on Friday 12th November
- Conference Dinner on Saturday 13th November
- Conference Registration including morning/afternoon teas and lunches on Saturday and Sunday
